

BILL VANCE

BASS & VOCALS

Hailing from Virginia, Bill Vance plays bass with grit earned from real-world experience not textbooks. He first picked up a viola in 5th grade, moved to violin, and by 13 discovered his true calling: the bass. High school jazz band sharpened his feel for groove and rhythm, but life took him another direction as he served a full career in the Navy, followed by years as a network engineer.

Today, Bill brings all that experience and soul to Junction 41. His bass lines don't just hold down the low end — they drive the sound with rock-and-roll edge and blues-deep feel. Tone, groove, grit: that's Bill Vance.
